LORD MELCHETT AND IMMIGRATION

BY RABBI FERDINAND M. ISSERMAN

In an address before the Canadian Club of Toronto, Lord Melchett chose to discuss Canada's immigration problem. As an industrial leader, he stressed the need of population. He knew Canada's waste places, and realized that man-power was needed to transform them. He then urged the importance of peopling Canada with men of British stock, British race and British civilization. He said nothing about the foreigner, who is so maligned and misunderstood by fanatic imperialists just now. He did not add what he might gracefully have added that foreigners may become good Britishers, and may carry on British civilization. He might even have pointed to himself as the son of a foreigner who has done much for the empire. No! But without qualifications: "People your country with men of your own race and stock and civilization"—and this from the son of a German-Jewish immigrant to London. This was not Lord Melchett, the dreamer of Zion, but Lord Melchett, the politician, catering to the prejudices of his audience.

WANTED—FIVE HUNDRED WORKERS

We are all very busy people. Especially "we business men are very busy." But we shall not allow our preoccupation with business matters keep us from performing our DUTY towards the community. Indeed, just because we are busy, and just because we are blessed, we shall be able to rally to the cause of Federation. The officers of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies have after careful study decided that $135,000 will be necessary to enable Federation to carry on its activities next year. This means that the Jewish community of Toronto must raise that amount. It can be done if the necessary workers are available. Two hundred and fifty men and as many women can turn the trick. When called upon to work, do not plead you are busy. We all are. Answer heartily in the affirmative, and thank God that you can solicit, instead of being solicited for. If no one calls upon you to work, volunteer your services—phone Harry Rotenberg and tell him you want to do your share and you want to shoulder your responsibility.

JOHN ROSS ROBINSON

Under the regime of the late John Ross Robinson, the Telegram acquired in Jewish circles the reputation of being anti-Semitic. But in the latter years of the life of its late editor, the Evening Telegram seemed to modify its policy toward the Jews, and its apparent hostility disappeared. It was, perhaps, due to the fact that as Mr. Robinson learned to know Jews better, he revised his earlier attitude and opinion about them. He had an antipathy for foreign groups, for he feared that they would de-anglicize Canada. But when he realized that Jews became good Canadians, and saw that their children were loyal to the country of their adoption and birth, his antipathies subsided.

THE WAYS OF CRITICS

Friends and critics have often reproached us that in our writings on Jewish subjects we are generally bitter, satirical, even sardonic. We look at the Jewish scene and see only absurdities, mockeries, fantastic distortions. We have no patience with the trudging and stumbling pace of the Jewish desert generation in its trek across the wilderness. We are asking for too much; expecting unreasonable maximums. We are setting up impossible standards of values and are disgruntled at the shortcomings of our people. Editorial writers, they say, should always look at the bright side of things; detect the positive aspects of given situations. When the Ha'bonim lodges have a conference don't look for logic and chide them for their deficiencies. Make allowances for the kittenishness of human beings and share with them their pleasure in kicking around the ball of fraternalistic yarn. When Jews go to synagogue and trifle with marvelous works of religious art, do not jab them for their lack of taste. Pat them on their backs and be thankful that they can chant the "Adon Olom." You are a Zionist. Get on the band-waggon and cheer lustily at every jerk and pull made by the faithful plug-horse which drags it. Don't carp and rail if because of occasional myopic lapses it strays off the proper path. There are the philanthropic endeavours. Your attitude toward them has been mildly uppish. You cannot find fault with them. Charity, after all, is not as pretentious as cultural activity, and you must concede that the aims are always worthy. But somehow you seem peeved that Jews should understand Jewish values in the terms of money equivalents of loaves of bread and quarts of milk. You revolt at the frame of mind which sets money gifts at the peak of Jewish worths. You cast your eye on the ranks of the Jewish masses and you shiver at their ignorance and vulgarity. You conjure up visions of their grandfathers who spent their days and nights poring over holy writings and their grandmothers who were devout and pious. You chafe at the deterioration in the intellectual and moral quality of the commonalty of Jewdom. And your writings reflect your dissatisfaction with the conditions and tenor of Jewish life around you.

Need we apologize for our point of view? Is it the business of the Jewish writer to dip his pen in honey and scribble sweet banalities about institutions and things that be? Jewish life in America is in a chaotic state. There is no logic in it; no pervading harmony. Organizations are formed and institutions created adventitiously. Some are founded on a disjointed hangover of logic of a different age. Some are the products of whim and fancy. And hovering over the scene is a dense fog of ignorance. The Jewish laity which plays at leadership is discouragingly ill-informed regarding the activity of deeper forces in Jewish life. It is true that our good folks in charge of things, and those in the ranks, are well-meaning people. They bear burdens. They give time and money. They are generous and devoted. Their motives (for the most part) are pure. They deserve commendation for their decent efforts. But what about the ensemble? Each piece in the orchestra produces a sound. But

COMMENTARIES

By Rabbi Harry J. Stern, of Montreal
Associate Contributing Editor

WHY DO THEY LEAVE MONTREAL?

In the past few years splendid young men, possessed of ability, have come to Montreal to lead in the educational and executive work of the various Jewish organizations. No sooner have they begun to assert their leadership, when for some mysterious reason they find it best to leave the community. We wonder why? Is it true that there is something in the atmosphere of this Jewish community of ours which cramps personality and tends to narrow the outlook of energetic and visionary young Jews? Is it true that there is in Montreal an element of stagnation which discourages original dynamic leadership? Such questions do come to us when we try to reason "the why and the wherefore" of Mr. Weinstein's sudden departure from the executive offices of the local Y.M.H.A.

"THE WAILING WALL"

"The incident at the wailing wall during Yom Kippur services, when the Jerusalem police interfered with the worshippers who resisted the removal of a screen separating the men and women, has aroused the wrath of Jewry."

As I read this news item, my imagination transports me to this wall of tears, when I had the privilege to gaze upon it on the 9th day of Ab, in the year 1923. On this day of mourning thousands gathered at the wall and when the old men began to intone the Kinoth or dirges, some of the chalutzim shouted, "Enough of your lamentations! Now is the time not to mourn, but to rejoice that Palestine is once more the land of the Jew. Palestine is redeemed! We Jews are no more in the Galuth." Such were the slogans of the young pioneers! I can still hear them shouting to the old folks by the wall. I wish I were able to meet these Chalutzim and point out to them their mistake. The Jew is still in Galuth even in Palestine, even at the wailing wall. He must continue to recite the old but ever-new lamentations. When will Zion be redeemed through Justice? When will at least the historic wailing wall be given to the Jew? He paid enough for this wall in tears!

MICHAEL HIRSCH—PRESIDENT

The Montefiore Club at its recent annual meeting unanimously re-elected Michael Hirsch as its president for the twenty-fifth consecutive time. This gives us an opportunity to pen a note of appreciation of Mr. Hirsch. He is certainly one of the best known Jews in Canada. Dignified, aristocratic in appearance as well as in action, he is ever an indefatigable worker in the cause of Israel. The Jewish community is certainly proud of him. Michael Hirsch is not a wealthy man, but he has the wealth of the spirit. He had the "courage" to retire at an early age in order to devote his energies to communal endeavours. He does not waste his hours of leisure. And wherever he may be in California or Montreal, he does not desert the House of God. We have a suspicion that Mr. Hirsch belongs to many shuls and temples both in the United States and Canada.

SIMCHAS TORAH

Memory revives the Simchas Torah celebration of childhood days. Old and young did then rejoice because of the love for the Torah and because of the knowledge of it. To-day, it is almost a mockery to be jubilant on Simchas Torah. For how many do study it? What merchant prince will dedicate his son to the Torah of Israel? What sacrifices do we bring in its behalf? We have become a Torahless people and there is little Simcha in such a state of affairs. Our people know more about the champions of golf and hockey than about the great champions of the Torah. Indeed we are no longer the boasted spiritual aristocrats.

MR. CHARLES C. HERSHON,
Unit Manager.

Mr. D. L. Young, Provincial Manager, Canada Life Assurance Company, announces the appointment of

"The Charles C. Hershon Agency."

Under the direction of the Branch Office in Montreal, located in the

Canada Life Building,
275 St. James Street,

Mr. Hershon, as Unit Manager, will have charge of a section of the Canada Life organization in Montreal.

The above appointment has been made in recognition of Mr. Hershon's twelve years of loyal and faithful service, and in acknowledgment of the many records for personal business which he has established.

Recognized as one of Canada's leading Life Insurance salesmen, Mr. Hershon has undertaken to serve the large and growing list of policyholders of the Canada Life Assurance Company in Montreal and to maintain his excellent production of three-quarters of a million new business per annum. It is expected that his ability will be quite equal to this performance, as well as to take care of the duties required of him in connection with the development of new men under the guidance of the Provincial Manager, Mr. D. L. Young.

An Important Postscript

Abraham Dubanksy, who runs a grocery store in a small town in Nebraska, made up the following list of goods to be ordered from a wholesale house:

10 lbs. coffee, 10 lbs. rice, 15 lbs. beans, 5 lbs. cheese, 1 case laundry soap.

Just then Mrs. Dubanksy came in. After looking over the list she said, "Why, dear, we have plenty of all of these articles."

Before mailing the order bank, Mr. Dubanksy therefore added:

"My wife just came in and she says we do not need any of this merchandise now."

A Magazine and a Magazine

Bennie asked his father what he was reading. His dad replied "The Bnai Brith Magazine."

Bennie, still curious, asked, "And what is a magazine?" The reply was, "A periodical containing stories, pictures and articles."

Some time later Bennie visited the military post located near his home town. Pointing to the box-like part of a repeating rifle he asked a soldier, "What do you call that?"

"A magazine," replied the soldier.

To which Bennie remarked, "My father has a magazine, too. Only his is a periodical."

A number of things have happened lately pointing to the conclusion that the status of the Roumanian Jew is not improving and that any optimism held by credulous people should give way once again to suspicion and skepticism toward the Roumanian Government. The only thing for the weary world of minorities to believe ever is that the Roumanian Government is once more lying for the sake of expediency. It should be borne in mind that Roumania's historic record for keeping faith with Jews and others is rotten and that the Government can remain true to just one policy, a murderous, ruthless one of extermination by suffocation. Whatever news reaches this country in substantiation of this statement may be multiplied many times over since limitations imposed by censorship in Roumania are very strict.

Last week an unnecessarily harsh act on the part of the Government toward the Jews was committed at the instigation of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs when the Jewish Daily Bulletin was refused entry and circulation in Roumania. Thus not only does little Jewish news come from Roumania if the Government can help it, but Jews there who want to read Jewish news from other parts of the world are cut off from that slender contact with world Jewish activity. If this is an act against the Jewish Daily Bulletin chiefly it is also against the Jews. The Bulletin is a blameless paper on the whole. It apparently makes an honest attempt to present Jewish developments in Roumania objectively and with accuracy and to report things fairly. Of papers which might tell the world of Jewish life there it could be called the least inflammatory by intention.

Some explanation of the Roumanian Government's attitude toward the Bulletin may be found (this is merely a guess) in news which the Bulletin carried in August about the Catholic minority in Roumania. This news concerned a despatch from Bucharest to the National Catholic Welfare Council News Service in Washington. A cable said: Religious minorities in Roumania still have many complaints, chief among which is the unjust school policy. The Ministry of Education is trying to crush private schools, even the Protestant Saxon intermediate schools. To bring their plight to the attention of the world, religious minorities in Roumania are planning to appeal again to the League of Nations. The cable charges that the action of the Government is exactly the reverse of what the Minister for Foreign Affairs wrote to the Union of Roumanian Jews in America about "a policy in respect to the minorities animated by the most broad-minded liberalism."

It must give Roumanian Government officials a laugh to have such a promise taken seriously and by group leaders, grown up men, at that. The time they do not laugh, evidently, is when the news leaks out that they have broken faith again. And the time they find best for making promises of humane treatment of minorities is when they want to float a loan. When Roumania announced it was seeking a loan of 60 millions of dollars in America persecution of Jews in Roumania mysteriously ceased, particularly after Congressman Celler introduced a resolution in the House asking for Government supervision of foreign loans. Roumania likes to disguise itself in the costume of a sheep because American public opinion is not kindly disposed toward loans for governments that violate the laws of humanity and declare official warfare on people in their own countries.

The Jews are not the only ones who try to make their influence felt against lending money to Roumania although none have so good a right. In a recent interview Audrei Popovici, secretary of the Roumanian Legation at Washington, accused the Rev. Louis Craig Cornish, of Boston, Unitarian leader, of having taken steps to prevent Roumania from securing a loan in the United States and of being one of a group which has done everything in its power to discredit Roumania. Popovici charged that this group had systematically canvassed international bankers in New York to influence them against making a loan to Roumania and had even called a meeting of bankers to accomplish this purpose when Queen Marie was here. Such hurt surprise expressed by Roumanian officials especially those at the Roumanian Legation at Washington, when people are discovered in disapproval of slaughter and oppression, can be matched only by the disarming blandness of these officials, their regret and contrition, their readiness to admit their mistakes and their assurance to mend same, when such a gesture seems called for at the moment.

No other country is so outstanding in the wide discrepancy between government declaration and the acts of officials.

If Roumanian officials were perturbed by the Rev. Cornish then Dr. Charles S. MacFarland, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, must have been a bolt from the blue. Dr. MacFarland, who recently returned from Roumania, made a study of conditions there which left him of the opinion that the Government has constantly violated its obligations to minority groups. In saying so, Rev. MacFarland was confirming the report made by five impartial clergymen to the American Committee on the Rights of Religious Minorities. He finds the situation for Jews precarious, that "the sins of the centuries are charged to them offhand, even to their being the cause of the last war." As gloomy and depressing as Dr. MacFarland's report is that of Irving Fineman, member of the Faculty of the University of Illinois, who returned from an investigation of the condition of Jewish students in Roumania. He found professors preaching and practicing anti-Semitism, students persecuting Jewish students, no evidence of reformation on the part of the Roumanians and no hope for the Jews who flee as they can.

But if the Roumanian Legation could object to these men what a comfort it must have been to them to welcome back from Roumania one Leon Fischer, vice-president of the United Roumanian Jews of America! This gentleman reported that conditions in Roumania were much better. It was the desire of the Government to check all disorders and right all wrongs. Of course, as Herbert Solow points out in a letter to the Nation, Mr. Fischer is printer to the Roumanian Legation in Washington. He engaged in propaganda for the aforementioned loan and later when he was abroad was received by high officials of the Roumanian Government and also Queen Marie over whom many other American-and-Canadian-Roumanian Jews have expressed adulation. When Fischer insists that everything is lovely with the Jews in Roumania he makes it easy to believe Dr. MacFarland who says just the opposite. Meantime the latest despatches from Vienna say that in Roumania efforts are being made now to reconcile all anti-Semitic groups so that a united anti-Semitic front may be re-established!

Social Life in 1906— Do You Remember?—

A cable received in Montreal stated that Pauline Donalda, of Montreal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lightstone, was married to Paul Sevelhac, French baritone. Lord Strathcona's daughter was among the witnesses. Charles Samuel returned from the coast. Max Goldberg left for England. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wener left for a trip to the States. Mrs. Joseph Kellert and son Bernie left for Old Orchard. Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Ogulnick returned from their wedding trip. Isador Elkin was away. Mrs. B. Friedman and son were at Shawbridge. Mrs. Friedman, Bishop Street, and Miss Lilian Samuel were at Caledonia. Walter Goldstein, of Toronto, visited his aunt, Mrs. J. Youngheart, Bishop Street. Mr. and Mrs. Ballon and family were at St. Agathe. Mrs. William Jacobs and the Misses Jacobs were at North Hatley, Que. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jacobs and Solomon Jacobs left for a trip to the West.. Miss Etta Wener gave a party. Mr. and Mrs. Tannenbaum and family were at St. Hilaire. Mrs. Oppenheimer, of Chicago, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Boas, Peel Street. Mrs. A. L. Friedman and Be-nice left for Shawbridge. Mrs. R. Goldstein, of Sherbrooke, visited Mrs. W. Jacobs, McGill College Avenue. Gilbert H. Rudolf left Saturday evening for Toronto. Rabbi Abramowitz and his sister, Mrs. Levine, were at Tannersville in the Catskill Mountains. The engagement was announced of Miss Elca Cossman, of North Sydney, to Moses Mendelsohn. Harry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Levinson, was recovering from an accident. The engagement was announced of Miss Helene Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lewis, to Arthur Thenheim, of Buffalo. Mrs. Harry Friedman and Leonore and Irving were at Shawbridge. The engagement was announced of Miss Ray Kaufman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Kaufman, of New York, to Isador Elkin. Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Hart were given a surprise party on the second anniversary of their wedding. The first on the honour list of the Mount Royal School of 1,200 pupils was Miss Fanny Weiss, of St. Famille Street, and Herman Varshefsky, of Napoleon Street. Rev. Mr. Dobson, of the Presbyterian Church, said that the Jewish children always came out ahead in rank and that "no others were the equal of the Jewish scholars who seemed to be possessed of something divine." B. Weiss, father of the honour student, donated $10 to the school. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Davis, a son.

HAMILTON

Dr. and Mrs. M. Finkelstein, of Winnipeg, visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. Grossman for a few days en route to their home from their honeymoon spent abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Cheitkoff, of Rochester, N.Y., spent the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Cheitkoff.

The wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Newman, Ottawa Street, Thursday, September 27, of their daughter, Minnie, and Maurice Finegold, of London, England. Rabbi Dr. Feldman officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, was in a Poiret model of silver lace, the bodice tightly fitted and the full skirt hanging in frills to the ground. Her veil of Chantilly lace was worn in Juliet cap effect, held in place by clusters of forget-me-nots. She carried a bouquet of Butterfly roses with a centre of orchids and shower of lilies-of-the-valley. The matron of honour was the bride's sister, Mrs. J. Mack, in a sleeveless gown of shell pink chiffon, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of Columbia roses. Lou Tannenbaum was the best man, and ushers were Robert Newman, Moe Goldstone, Louis Newman and Joe Mack. Mrs. Newman, mother of the bride, wore a black transparent velvet gown trimmed with rhinestones and silver lace. Her corsage bouquet was of pink roses. At the wedding dinner, covers were laid for seventy-five guests and a reception and dance followed. Moe Goldstone was master of ceremonies. Autumn flowers in profusion and quantities of palms and ferns decorated the spacious rooms. A Japanese effect was achieved in the decoration of the rooms, blue and white being the predominating colours, with Japanese lanterns to correspond. The canopy was a white bower, decorated with flowers and illuminated with small electric lights; spotlights of incandescent blue threw a very soft light upon the bride and groom. The bride's travelling costume consisted of a kasagranda coat with Queen Elizabeth collar of ermine, cuffs to match, black hat, bag and shoes to match. Mr. and Mrs. M. Finegold left for New York, and will sail October 6, on the s.s. Pennland, for an extensive tour abroad, visiting Belgium, Holland, France, Switzerland and Germany, and will make their home in London, England.

Lester, cut her wedding cake and distributed it among the guests.

LEAGUE NEWS

Only one game was played in the Jewish Community League last week, Herzls making sure of meeting Leonards in the finals for the Leon Scher trophy, by defeating Tuex 6 to 5 Tuesday night, September 25, the sudden death game which was carded for the following Thursday night having to be called off on account of rain. In the third meeting between Herzls and Tuex, the former got away to a good start with a 5 to 1 score in the second frame, only to have Tuex tie the game up in the last of the fifth, scoring two runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth. Appleby, the Herzl pitcher, won his own game by hitting in Manny Stone with the winning run in the sixth frame. Tuex were held scoreless in their half and with the winners off to a big scoring barrage in the seventh the game was called when the lights came on. Manny Stone and Harry Sniderman were the only players to get two hits, while Baylen made some nice catches in left for Herzls. Sniderman was the star for the hard fighting Tuex boys but spoiled a good game by a bad display of temper in the seventh frame. The executive are calling a meeting to decide what method to use to untangle the unsatisfactory state of affairs and by the time the next REVIEW is out the final game will have been played and the league championship decided after one of the most hectic seasons ever seen in any league. The league averages will be ready for publication shortly, and several players are in the running for the batting leadership. Meyer Miller was awarded the trophy donated by Lazar's for the most outstanding player in the league and will receive his prize at the annual banquet at Lazar's, Thursday night, October 11. Tickets from every manager. Result of the game played last week:

"We are not 'all wet'"

The name of this laundry appearing at the bottom of this little announcement has for a background the word "semi-finished." It is our most complete family wash service and comes to you with everything ironed and folded ready for use except a few of the fussy odd corners that can be finished with your own iron. This keeps down our prices to a very moderate point. Then we have four ocher services, including our "wet wash," or, as we call it nowadays, "damp wash." Soft water and pure soap for all, of course. Phone chat with our young lady about your problem of washday.

NORTHERN ONTARIO CANADA

Northern Ontario, now open for settlement at fifty cents per acre, contains millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world. Its resources in lumber, minerals, water, power, fish, game and scenery are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil, climate farming and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regards to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

For free copies write: G. A. ELLIOTT, Director of Colonization, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario.

John Ross Robinson was a man who had the courage of his conviction. Whether we agreed with him or not, and we frequently did not, we always knew that Robinson was sincere, that he was fighting hard because he thought his cause was right, and that no bribe, no flattery, no influence could dissuade him from his determined purpose. He did not hesitate to order an attack on those who sat bulwarked in the highest places. He had no respect for station or rank. He was an independent journalist of a type that is rapidly disappearing. He was fearless and courageous. His pen was mightier than a dozen swords. His newspaper bore the imprint of his personality.

To us the supreme achievement of Robinson was the lusty and successful fight he waged in behalf of public ownership of hydro-electric power. Many features of his career may be forgotten in time. But his successful championing of the cause of public ownership of power resources in the province of Ontario, history will remember. We hope that his newspaper will continue to uphold this cause as vigilantly as did he.

To Robinson's successors in the Telegram, may we commend the Jewish policy of his mellower years. The Jews want no special favour from the Canadian press. They merely want a fair deal, and the same treatment that other Canadians deserve and secure.

that is not enough. The several instruments must combine to give tone to a common motif. We want Jewish life to be inspired by a central theme. We believe in the ability and destiny of the Jewish people to live a more beautiful and significant life. Teaching by the preaching method is ineffective. Sharp stimulation is necessary. A jab, a dig, a prick now and again, with the sharp lance of satire, might jerk the public out of their sluggish indifference. We expect a great deal of the Jewish masses. That is why we cannot brook insipidity and mental indolence. Philanthropy, Zionism, cultural institutions, social organizations — these must recognize their proper place in the scheme of things, and their functioning must be coloured by the character of the entire organism. We should feel placidly tolerant if the Jewish world had achieved even as much as Main Street. Then there would be some semblance of purposiveness, orderliness, regularity. The Jewish world is a hectic jumble of structures and it is peopled by a horde of strange ghosts. It requires fantastic invocations to deal with and frighten away the ghosts.—A.B.B.

GIRL ATHLETE PRESENTED WITH DURANT SPORT MODEL

As a mark of esteem for her prowess in women's athletics, Miss Fanny Rosenfeld, probably the most versatile woman athlete in Canada, was presented with a Durant sport coupe Sunday, by the Junior Council of Jewish Women. A committee, sponsored by Charles Draimin and Ely Marks, and consisting of Jack Creed, J. D. Pearlstein, Laurie Simonsky, Mort Levy, R. J. Sapera and Shier Mendelson, raised the funds among the Jewish citizens, and gave Mrs. Charles Draimin the honour of presenting the car through the Junior Council. The presentation was made at a tea held Sunday afternoon in the Blue Room at the King Edward Hotel, which was attended by over a hundred friends of the famous Canadian all-round girl athlete, who, in three events at the Olympic games, namely, the relay, 100 metres and 800 metres, established her name among the outstanding woman athletes in the world. Miss Rosenfeld is shown with her new car, which has been given a 10,000 mile service contract. The committee which made the presentation a reality is also providing Miss Rosenfeld with "gas" for a lengthy time.
